ART-CUBE

16 - 24 MAY

(it's no) dramaDreamweaver*

This is the latest creation by local inclusive arts company (it's no) drama in collaboration with artists Sarah Parkes and Michael Shirrefs. Crafted from repurposed silage wrap, the sound and sculptural installation replicates the rolling green hills of South Gippsland, complimenting outdoor performances by (it's no) drama.

25 MAY - 21 JUNE

Kate Russell
 @katerussellfilms

 katerussell.com.au

Kate is South Gippsland filmmaker and video artist with a practice that includes projection and film installations. Kate will be screening a collection of video works including portraits of a local swim group and on select evenings, a projection installation 'Night - Shift, a nocturnal encounter' a collaboration with dance artist Jasmine Susic.

22 JUNE - 05 JULY

Honey Tripper

During her residency, Honey Tripper will document the local cockatoo population through a series of artworks, culminating in a public sign installation to be displayed

@soiltostars05 - 19 JULY

Sarah Atkinson(Soil To Stars) - Com-union*
 @soiltostars

 soiltostars.org

Only when we sit, stand, walk, dance, sing or create in communion with the world around us can we hear its story and find a way to navigate the chaos of our current times. This little cube is an invitation to come into union not only with the natural world of Gunaikurnai country, through a series of paintings and prints, but more importantly a com-union with your self and the world around you.

ART-CUBE

16 - 24 MAY

Foster Historical Society

Learn about Fish Creek's rich farming history with information and exhibits from the Foster Historical Society.

25 MAY - 21 JUNE

Lucy Parkinson
 @lucy_parkinson_magic_lantern

 magiclanternstudio.com

Lucy's work explores far from equilibrium states and dissipative structures through oil painting. Drawing on coastal processes including tides, erosion, currents and shifting sand formations, the project will examine how unstable systems generate patterns, borders and temporary forms of order. By linking these natural processes to contemporary questions around ecological stability and the human tendency to impose meaning and structure onto changing environments, the residency will explore how oil paint can physically reproduce behaviors such as flow, turbulence, sedimentation and fragmentation.

22 JUNE - 19 JULY

Sarah Saridis
 @sarahsaridis

 sarahsaridis.com.au

Sarah's work begins outdoors, inspired by the rugged coast and bushland of South Gippsland and the connection between nature and reflective spaces. Through drawing and painting the landscape and flora, she explores light, colour and movement, using intuitive marks to express the feeling and presence of place.

ART-CUBE

16 - 24 MAY

Fish Creek Primary School

View a display showcasing how students created the bunting that will hang throughout the town during the Festival. Plus, check out some of the lanterns that students will use in the lantern parade on Saturday 23 May.

25 MAY - 21 JUNE

Gonzo Varela
 @gonzalovarela.artist

 magiclanternstudio.com

This residency proposes a small-scale body of work by Gonzalo Varela combining found-object sculpture and acrylic painting. Working through an attentive reading of the mancha (stains, residues, accidental marks, and incidental surface formations), the project develops a visual language grounded in observation, collection, and reconfiguration of everyday materials. The residency frames the studio as a site of ongoing assembly and adjustment, where meaning is provisional and forms remain deliberately unstable and open-ended.

22 JUNE - 19 JULY

Wendy Sherry

Wendy Sherry creates mosaic art in Fish Creek, inspired by the natural beauty, colours and quiet charm of country life in South Gippsland. For Wendy, mosaics are both creative and therapeutic - a slow, patient process of bringing broken pieces together to create something meaningful and beautiful. Influenced by the Australian landscape, changing seasons and everyday moments, each handmade work is layered with texture, warmth and a sense of calm connection.

LOCATION

ArtCubes are situated in the centre of Fish Creek on the old tennis courts next to the playground.
